Why We Give: Dr. Stanley and Pearl Goodman Building a Legacy of Giving

Dr. Stanley and Pearl Goodman, fondly known as the heart and soul of Goodman JFS, have been unwavering pillars of support since 1995. Born in the tough times of 1929, their upbringing instilled in them a deep empathy for the struggles of others.

Their invaluable legacy has transformed Goodman JFS and helps ensure its continued growth. They've seen the organization evolve over the years and are in awe of the agency's multitude of quality services—from behavioral health counseling and combating food insecurity to assisting Holocaust survivors and the neurodivergent community.

“We're Depression babies,” Pearl recalls. “We've seen poverty. We've seen people struggle. So, if we can help others today, we feel blessed to do it.”
